Real words from a real Marine near Fallujah 11-03-04

Description

I followed a link to The Green Side and found an email sent from a Marine to his father. This Marine Officer makes some powerful points, and gives you a ringside seat to his emotions, and the things he has seen. Yes, itâ€™s filtered through the eyes of a Marine, but he writes eloquently about the experience his fellow Marines and he will more than likely face very soon. He displays a degree of compassion the MSM would not allow you to believe is in our front line war fighters. Thank God heâ€™s there.

For those of you who have been there, done that and have the T-shirt, thank you.

For those who are about to enter that close quarters battle environment, my prayers are with you, as is my admiration for your drive to do the hard work of democracy.

default watermark

Keep your focus, Dave and bring your boys homeâ€¦

Category

1. Uncategorized

Date Created
November 6, 2004
Author