Veterans Day Reading

Description

Charles of Little Green Footballs just stuck a short post up, announcing today as Veteransâ€™ Day. As of a few minutes ago, there were 489 comments.

The amazing cross section of stories and the back grounds of those contributing is nothing short of spectacular. Tribute is paid to many, names of those who have given us this freedom are mentioned, names that were, nor probably ever be the ones to make the page of a paper, other than the obits, are there. People who have served, people who knew people who have served, foreigners who saw what American did and do for them, and the list goes on.

Please allow yourself to be blessed by this collection of honor, saddness, humor, and just plain statements of facts.

default watermark

Category

1. Uncategorized

Date Created
November 11, 2004
Author