Fallujah is out of the news, but the Marines are still at work

Description

LCOL Dave Belsan sent the following email to his Father. It paints a picture of the aftermath of wresting the city from a a band of terrorists, and what has been done to help the residents get back to their homes.

God forbid the MSM actually goes out of their way to actually report that something good is being done by the US Military, it might make people believe these men and women they â€œsupportâ€• arenâ€™t really evilâ€¦..

The Green Side is Daveâ€™s Fatherâ€™s blog to post the reports he receives from his son.

I, for one, am glad men like Dave Belsan are on the front lines. Having read many of his reports, he sounds like a great leader, and a compassionate man, working hard to balance the use of force with the need to help.

default watermark

Category

1. Uncategorized

Date Created
January 1, 2005
Author