The Maintenance Monkey

Description

Received from a friendâ€¦he is a retired CPO,,,,

A man walked into a pet store and was looking at the animals on display. While he was there, a First Class Petty Officer from the local Navy base walked in and said to the shopkeeper, â€œIâ€™ll take a maintenance monkey, please.â€•

The man nodded, went to a cage at the side of the store and took out a monkey. He put a collar and leash on the animal and handed it the PO1, saying, â€œThatâ€™ll be $5,000.â€• The PO1 paid and left with the monkey.

default watermark

Surprised, the man went to the shopkeeper and said, â€œThat was a very expensive monkey. Most of them are only a few hundred dollars. Why did that one cost so much?â€•

The shopkeeper answered, â€œAh, thatâ€™s a maintenance monkey. He can run diagnostics on all radars/weapons systems, score 95 on the ASVAB test, operate all forms of test equipment, perform the duties of any Maintenance Man qualified person with no back talk or complaints. Itâ€™s well worth the money.

The man spotted a monkey in another cage. â€œThat oneâ€™s even more expensive, $10,000! What does it do?â€• â€œOh, that one is a Workcenter Supervisor monkey! It can instruct at all levels of maintenance, supervise maintenance on the unit, intermediate, and depot level, knows all OPNAV instructions, utilizes ORM, and even conducts Divisional Training. A very useful monkey indeed,â€• replied the shopkeeper.

The man looked around a little longer and found a third monkey in a cage. The price tag read, â€œ$50,000.â€• The shocked tourist exclaimed, â€œThat one costs more than all the others put together! What in the world does it do?â€•

â€œWell, Iâ€™ve never actually seen him do anything but drink beer and play with his pecker, but his papers say heâ€™s a Chief!â€•

Category

1. Humor

Date Created
November 7, 2005
Author