Call for â€œPapersâ€• â€“ Operation Forward Pass Begins

Description

In the â€œjunior blogâ€• a few days ago, I posted a proposal for pulling together lessons learned to be passed on to those who are getting ready to enter â€œthe real world,â€• particularly those headed for entry into the service. I think itâ€™s time to get to work.

If youâ€™re not following this well, check the post on the archives to see if that helps fill in the understanding gaps.

I have set up a rough cut blog for the purpose of posting articles or links to widom gathers from the â€œOld (fill in your name or nickname for your branch of service here)â€• and to collect them in a sinlge places for others to come along and peruse them.

default watermark

http://operationforwardpass.com is the place I decided to launch from, and then it may grow to itâ€™s own domain from there. It will take a few hours for the domain name to go through, and then Iâ€™ll connect the dots and make it viable for use. The first cut will be cave-man basic, but functional.

If you have stories, emails, letters, etc, etc, etc, that helped you survive your â€œre-education process, please submit it to me, either by a link, or as the text youâ€™d like shared.

Iâ€™m going to work off the premise the general topic areas will fall into a few main areas:

- Boot Camp
- Officer Indoctrination
- Officer Commissioning (Academies, ROTC, OCS)

Iâ€™m looking forward to reading the collected wisdom and enthused that the â€˜net gives us a vehicle to keep it from being lost for all time. If you can recall the purveyor of the wisdom, please pass that along and Iâ€™ll make sure itâ€™s highlighted to honor that personâ€™s contribution to the military members who followed them.

Questions? Email, or post comments hereâ€¦.

Category

1. History
2. Military

Date Created
May 12, 2006
Author
admin