Valour-IT has a Shortfall. Got some spare bucks?

Description

I picked this up on Milblogs.

Valour-IT is a charity that funds laptop computers for wounded service members. These laptops are equipped with voice recognition software, provided by Dragon Software, and it turns the lives around that have been turned upside down.

Check my tab above for â€œCharitiesâ€• and not Valour-IT is the top one. A simple click takes you to the Soldierâ€™s Angels Valour-IT donation page. Thereâ€™s plenty of info there to brief you in.

More detailed info on the work is found at the Projectâ€™s websiteâ€¦.

default watermark

I know itâ€™s not Veteranâ€™s Day, but this is a project worthy of regular donations to help those who have given so much to keep us safe.

PS: Hey, all you Milbloggers: How about get this word out? Get a blogburst goingâ€¦.

Cross posted at: Itâ€™s That Time Again, Boys And Girls â€“ OTA
Stuck on Stupid Weekend Open Post
Point Five Weekend Open Trackback
Outside the Beltway â€“ Beltway Traffic Jam
TMHâ€™s Bacon Bits â€“ Bacon Break Full Moon Weekend
The Right Nation
Church and State
The Bullwinkle Blog
Common Folks Using Common Sense
Stingray â€“ A Blog for Salty Christians
Mudville Gazette Open Posts

Category

1. Military
2. Supporting the Troops
3. Technology

Date Created
June 9, 2006
Author
admin