Dear Gov Bush: Will This Help?

Description

Oh, the humanity!

The disaster preparedness crowd is all over TV. It seems (yeah, unlike any OTHER YEAR!) Hurricane season is upon us, yes, for a limited time only, AGAIN!

Governor Bush: I know you are concerned about being â€œNagined,â€• when citizen, who purposely choose to exercise their rights to ~~be idiots~~ stay behind after an evacuation order, butâ€¦.well, this is America and we have a right to ~~be idiots~~ take risks. Hurricanes have a habit of not â€œelandingâ€• where the forecasters say, when they are 10-12, and even 3 days out from landfall (HELLO! Hurricane Charlie!).

I understand how bad it would look if these people then complain that you didnâ€™t come to their house and take care of them personally, but, pleaseâ€¦be a leader and tell them to be ready and get back to the work of your office.

Of course, if youâ€™re still scared of the political fallout, school is out now, so crank up those school buses and drive us all to GA, NC, SC and WV now, while you have a chance to get us out in a staged manner, and none of us will have to run out of gas on he Interstate system and take a leak in the median.

Oh, then have these signs modified like this:

On the plus side, in case your political equivalents of Carl Rove didnâ€™t point out to you yet: Ray Nagin got Re-electedâ€¦.Nature, she can be a bitchâ€¦.get used to it.Thanks to Mudville Gazette for the Open Post.
