2006 Veteranâ€™s Day Valour-IT Fund Drive â€“ Part II

Description

Part I, the kick off, is here!

Weâ€™re off! Thanks to those who have joined the fray on Day 1.

Iâ€™m going to create a universal email list of the Navy bloggers and email it out, along with Secret/No Other Service hints to get the funds flowing.

In case you didnâ€™t see on the program blog, as of today, the 650th (WOW!) laptop for Valour-IT was delivered! Thatâ€™s a lot of roll up your sleeves, engage your brain and open your wallet support from many people to make that happen.

default watermark

Math, for those who are busy pounding the virtual pavement for $$$: To attain the goal of $45K in 13 days, we need to pull in $3461.54/day.

Between all of our friends, families, friends who have kids who made you buy Girl Scout cookies, band candy bars, or Boy Scout Jamboree tickets, this is a perfect time to pay them a visit, or at least ring them up on the phone/email.

At the moment, the laptops are in the medical facility libraries, butâ€¦.with luck, one day they will be in the hands of the people who need them for the rest of their lives.

Think up how to get in contact with local radio stations and see if theyâ€™ll post the info on the program on their websites and include it in some of their programming.

Email to follow. If you donâ€™t see one in your inbox, email me and Iâ€™ll catch you up (providing youâ€™re not a plant from one of the Army sites, looking for good ideas).

Begin by checking in with your closest contacts today/tonight. Plan for the broader reach soon.

Category

1. Charities
2. Military
3. Supporting the Troops
4. Technology

Date Created
October 30, 2006
Author
admin