Politics Imitate Reality TV

Description

I have long thought the â€œSurvivorâ€• series was pretty worthless and conveyed a bad message, but it seems to be a replication of the current political, and cultural landscapes these days.

So they start out â€œteams,â€• which donâ€™t really have anything to do with forming teams, because, at the end of the day (season), the goal is to not only beat the other team, but out maneuver each and every one of your team mates, just so you can walk with the prize.

Between elected and governmental, as well other supporters of the President, it seems â€œPhase IIâ€• has begun, where, after getting somewhere as part of the â€œteam,â€• then the backstabbing begins, so there are sufficient bodies to stand upon to reach what you desire.

default watermark

Noting more profound than that, but it seems my view of the â€œSurvivorâ€• model had come to be the dominant methodology in the upper levels of our governmentâ€¦.sad, but, we will pay.

In the meantime, check out â€œLifestyles of the Rich and Fascist.â€• (Speaking of life imitating TVâ€¦)

Category

1. History
2. Leadership
3. Political

Date Created
December 12, 2006
Author
admin