A Public Service Announcement â€“ Point of Contact Info

Description

I got an email a few weeks back and it said the Florida DMV site allowed you to attach two names/phone numbers to your driverâ€™s license, so law enforcement can get a hold of someone for you in an emergency. Being a little bit skeptical, I surfed over there and sure enough, thereâ€™s a way to do thatâ€¦.

Here is the link, if you donâ€™t believe me (or need to use it)

So, like putting a contact named â€œICEâ€• (In Case of Emergency) in your cell phone directory, it might be helpful to get your Next of Kin set up in the local driverâ€™s license listing for a really, really bad day.
