WMD Sites Found and Lost?

Description

Now this certainly will come to the front quickly (NOT!) or there will be efforts to, at the least discount, at best, bury, any detailed looks into this report. Talk about and embarrassment at the partyâ€™s refreshment bowl, on any side of the aisle:

â€œI Found Saddamâ€™s WMD Bunkersâ€• from Melanie Phillipsâ€™s column in the Spectator.

The reported find of bunkers built under the Euphrates River bed doesnâ€™t seem all that outrageous. Remember the reports about German engineering firms constructing elaborate bunkers for Saddam? No one disputes that. So, possible from a technical standpoint? Yes. Possible from the track record of Saddam? Yes to that, also.

default watermark

Will we see more to help ferret out the truth? Not likely. Our children will most likely know, long after we go and books are written by historians.

H/T: commenter nuke gingrich at Little Green Footballs

Category

1. History
2. Political
3. Technology

Date Created
April 21, 2007
Author
admin