Letter to America via Jack Army

Description

Jack Army, in the sandbox, posts (in two parts), a letter he received. He did ask one of his Iraqi counterparts to write what he thought. The letter talks to us. Worth the read. I doubt youâ€™ll ever see this grace the media of anything even remotely related to the MSM:

> I asked an Iraqi I know to write a letter to Americans. I told him he should write whatever he wants. Specifically, I said, â€œif you could say anything you wanted to the American people, what would it be?â€• He wrote a letter and was very passionate when giving it to me. I could tell that he had agonized over this letter, what he wanted to say and how best to say it. He speaks English well but has a little difficulty writing it. I wanted to give you his words without any help from my, but I did edit slightly only to make a few confusing sentences a little more understandable. Because he wrote such a long letter, I broke it into two parts. Below is part one. My Iraqi friend is eager for feedback. I promised him that I would share any comments about his letter with him. So, feel free to address your comments to him. Unfortunately, for security reasons, I cannot tell you much about this fine man, but I can tell you that I admire him for what he does and his dedication to Iraq.
>
> This is what he wrote:
>
> To my brothers and sisters all over the world,
>
> Hi, I am in individual Iraqi, I can only express my own ideas about what is going on in this whole situation and I am very sure that the majority of Iraqis have the same idea.
> [â€¦]

default watermark

Part I and part II, in their entirety, at Jack Armyâ€™s blog.

Read it there, before you donâ€™t know you never saw it in the â€œnews.â€•

Category

1. Army
2. Geo-Political
3. History
4. Leadership
5. Military
6. Military History
7. Political
8. Public Service

Date Created
July 10, 2007
Author

admin

default watermark