Entropy and Irony â€“ Part IV

Description

P.E.T.A. eats its own. NO MEAT FOR YOU TODAY!!!!! Jerry Sienfeld, contact your nearest P.E.T.A. Chapter, I think thereâ€™s a consulting/stand up gig in it for you.

On 6/28/07 at the Democratic Debate, Hillary comments that weâ€™re holding a lot of non-violent offenders in prisons and we need to get them out and figure a better way to handle it. On 7/02/07, she decries the use of Constitutionally appointed Presidential powers over the topic of a man sentenced for lying. Ironic on many levels: If lying is no longer non-violent, has she been living with a violent man? As someone who has had a close, personal relationship with a man who used the very same provisions during his time as Presidentâ€¦.and a lot more than 80 some timesâ€¦more like around 400, to include someone convicted of trafficking and selling weapons silencers.

default watermark

OK, many years ago, an Army Officer said something the media excoriated him for during the Vietnam War. The Live Earth is now of the mind to â€œMake carbon in order to reduce it.â€• Funny, throw a concert on each continent (I guess they havenâ€™t figured out that ticket sales in Africa and India might not cover the expenses). Sure, mega-wattage for amplifiers, lights and associated electrical systems during the concert, heating and cooling for the performers and their massive entourages, not to mention people up and going somewhere they might never have traveled to, just because they will feel better about helping the cause, while stomping all over the virgin land mass of Antarctica. Crazy idea. What about raising funds by just passing the word and bringing people on board with your cause. Maybe theyâ€™re afraid of getting nailed by anti-SPAM laws of the Federal Government.

And, the capstone of the week: Humans using more than our fair share of solar energy. Scary. I wonder if they calculated from the number of people turning their skin to leather on the beaches of the world. Andâ€¦if some snail darter isnâ€™t inland where I might be, am O supposed to package up the sunlight raining down and ship it to someone living near a pond, so they can release the energy over the water and let the darter get some quality rays?

Geezâ€¦itâ€™s getting nutty out here, but I will draw the line at providing free cars to lemmings. Theyâ€™ll only take a one way trip to the nearest cliff and careen over it, no matter what they tell you about their plans for the day.

Category

1. Entropy and Irony
2. Humor
3. Political
4. Stream of Consciousness

Date Created
July 6, 2007
Author
admin