Stop the Murdoch (Flt 93) Memorial Blogburst: Calling Michelle Malkin, Charles Johnson, A.J. Strata, Ed Morrissey, Richard Fernandez and Ace of Spades

Description

Blogburst logo, August 2nd

When the Crescent of Embrace memorial to Flight 93 was unveiled in September 2005, these six high profile conservative bloggers were instrumental in raising the public protest that forced the Memorial Project to agree to a redesign. Charles Johnson stayed with the story until the summer of 2006, and Ace has done two links since 2005, but for the most part, these conservative heroes seem to have decided that the â€œcircle of embraceâ€• redesign is okay.

It is NOT okay. Architect Paul Murdoch described his original Crescent of Embrace design as a broken circle. The redesign is still described as a broken circle, and the unbroken part of the circle (the crescent) remains exactly as it was in the original design.

default watermark

In particular, the giant crescent still points to Mecca, and the repetition of this Mecca orientation in the crescents of trees that surround the Tower of Voices part of the memorial proves that the Mecca orientation is intentional. That makes the giant crescent a mihrab: the Mecca-direction indicator around which every mosque is built.

The planned memorial is a terrorist memorial mosque. This is an enemy plot, every bit as ambitious in its own way as the 9/11 attacks. To stop this re-hijacking of Flight 93, we need our frontline bloggers to rejoin the fray!

The only change: the design now includes a broken off part of the circle

The design drawings were recolored to make it look as if significant changes were made, the but only actual change was the inclusion of an additional arc of trees, said to represent a broken off part of the circle:

Crescent Bowl35%

Crescent of Embrace left. Circle or Embrace right. The only actual change is the additional arc of trees on the west side of the memorial. (Click for larger image.)

Notice that this extra ark of trees sits to the rear of a person facing into the giant central crescent. That is the equivalent of laying down a Muslim prayer rug (called a small mosque) in front of some trees. The prayer rug is unchanged. You can plant as many trees around a mosque as you want to. It will still be a mosque.

â€œBroken circleâ€• is Park Serviceâ€™s official story

In the original design, the broken off part of the circle was removed entirely. Now, as Memorial Project Superintendent Joanne Hanley reiterated last week, a broken off part of the circle is included:

> The trees surrounding this â€œcircle of embraceâ€• are missing, or broken, in two places; first, where the flight path of the plane came overhead (which is the location of the planned memorial overlook and visitor center) and second, where the plane crashed at the Sacred Ground (depicted by a ceremonial gate and pathway into the Sacred Ground).

She is describing the two ends of the additional arc of trees. It is broken at both ends.

Both the theme and the geometry of the original Crescent of Embrace design remain as they were. The terrorists still break our circle, and they still turn it into a giant Mecca oriented crescent.

Those who raised the hue and cry about the original design ought to be equally concerned that the original design remains completely intact in the phony redesign. Come on heroes. Your help is NEEDED!

default watermark

Crescent-Bowl, site-plan animation, 300px

Animation superimposes the redesign, then withdraws all but the changes. (Click for larger version.)

Come to the August 2nd meeting

If you can make it to Somerset PA on Saturday August 2nd, come help Tom Burnett Sr. tackle the hijacker! (Mr. Burnett announced trip, and his willingness to go to jail if necessary, in this audio clip from the Mancow Muller radio show (25 seconds. And here is Tom talking about the heroism of his murdered son, Tom Jr. Audio 45 seconds).

To join our blogbursts, just send your blogâ€™s url.
1389 Blog â€“ Antijihadist Tech
A Defending Crusader
A Fine Line Between Stupid and Clever
A Liberalâ€™s Worst Nightmare
Al Salibiyyah
All American Blogger
Almost Midnight in the West

And Rightly So
Anne Arundel Maryland Politics
apocryphal EVIDENCE !
ARRA News Service
Battle Dress U
Because Iâ€™m Right
Best Destiny
Big Dogâ€™s Weblog

Big Sibling
Boston Maggie
Cao2â€™s Weblog
Caoâ€™s Blog
Chaotic Synaptic Activity
Chester Street
Christmas Ghost
Common Sense Junction
Concrete Bob
Creeping Sharia
DC Protest Warrior
Democrat = Socialist
Dr. Bulldog and Ronin
Error Theory
EW1Ã¢â‚¬â„¢s Intercept Log
Faultline USA
Flanders Fields
Flopping Aces
Four Pointer
Freedomâ€™s Enemies
From My Position On the Way!
Ft. Hard Knox
Garbanzo Toons
GMâ€™s Corner
Gunservatively
Haid Dasalami
Hoosier Army Mom
Ironic Surrealism II

default watermark

Ivy League Conservatives
Jack Lewis
Jihad Press
Jim-Rose â€“ the Libertarian Popinjay
Judge Right
Just Barking Mad
Kenderâ€™s Musings
Lemur Kingâ€™s Folly
Monkey in the Middle
My Own Thoughts
Neoconstant
Nice Deb
No Compromises When It Comes To Being Right!
Ogreâ€™s Politics and Views
Part-Time Pundit
Protest The Church
Protest The Left

Publiusâ€™ Forum
Rayra.net
Republican Attack Machine
Right on the Right
Right Truth
Ronâ€™s Musings
Rosemaryâ€™s Thoughts
Seattle Express
Smooth Stone

Space 4 Commerce by Brian Dunbar
Stix Blog
Stop the ACLU
the Avid Editor
The Great Lie of Islam
The Hinge of Fate
The Loyal Eagles
The Midnight Sun
The Paradigm Shift
The Renaissance Biologist
The Sisyphus Files
The Truth of Islam
The View From the Turret
The Wide Awakes
Thunder Run
Tizonaâ€™s Weblog
United Conservatives
War of 2 Worlds
We Have Some Planes
Yes, but can I dance to it?

default watermark

Category

1. Political

Date Created
July 3, 2008
Author
admin