Windows 7? Yep,it's running

Description

Managed to grab my copies of both the 32 and 64 bit betas of Windows 7. Decided to put the 64-bit on the extra HD in the secondary system, which is a healthy machine in its own right.

Went on smooth as silk and left me with a dual boot option on startup of the machine.

Avira Anti-Virus (free, btw) went right on, as did Adaware 2008 (the free version, too). Looking for a free and capable firewall. Comodo looks like it went on, but the last message on the install says â€œRollback Completeâ€• and that sounds like it backed itself off at the end. Canâ€™t find it on the programs listâ€¦so no go right now.

The screen is nice. Translucent edges on the windows frames and the desktop picture is very sharp.

More later as I play.

default watermark

Category

1. Technology

Date Created
January 13, 2009
Author
admin