Do You Have Any Pensacola Fight Training Stories?

Description

If so, are you willing to share? Yes, you have your opportunity now to relive those days and share them in print!

Via the WRAP Pac crew, I was asked if I could get the word out that published author Bob Taylor (â€œA Few Good Memoriesâ€•) has embarked on a second writing project to collect and edit your stories.

He has a site up: Getting Your Wings to allow for easy input, but his email address is roarta at hotmail.com.

default watermark

Time to ante up and share your personal history, high and low jinks with the rest of the world. Just remember, itâ€™s all for the sake of history.

For those reading this, with and without your personal experience in Pensacola, please pass it along to your shipmates and family members and friends who may be connected with those who would like to participate.

Category

1. Blogging
2. History
3. Marines
4. Maritime Matters
5. Military
6. Navy
7. Public Service

Tags

1. bob taylor
2. flight training
3. getting your wings
4. History
5. marine corps history
6. marine history
7. Military History
8. NAS pensacola
9. naval history
10. navay flight training
11. navy history
12. pensacola
13. robert taylor

Date Created
March 16, 2011
Author
admin

default watermark